

SUBWAY COLLAPSE ON SEVENTH AVENUE

Seven Killed and More Than Fifty Injured When Explosion Causes New Subway to Fall in, Carrying Street Cars With It.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 22.—Seven persons are known to have been killed and more than fifty injured today when an explosion of dynamite caused the collapse of a block and a half of Seventh avenue into the new subway being constructed fifty feet beneath the surface of that thoroughfare.

The foregoing figures of casualties are based on an official statement given out by the police at 9.45 a. m., an hour and forty minutes after the street fell into the excavation.

The section of Seventh avenue that fell into the subway was the block between West 24th and West 25th street, and half the block extending to West 26th street.

The first reports of the disaster reaching police headquarters said that three cars had fallen into the excavation. Eye-witnesses of the disaster said they saw only two cars disappear and the police who entered the excavation after the disaster said that they could see only one car, but it was possible another was buried beneath tons of debris.

A short time after the disaster occurred Fire Chief Kenlon estimated that the dead would number between 25 and 30 persons. At that time no bodies had been recovered. According to early police reports more than 200 were injured.

The collapse occurred at 8.05 a. m. Within five minutes calls were sent to all hospitals in New York to send their ambulances to the scene. Eleven carrying physicians made a quick response.

Police reserves of five precincts were summoned and every fire station sent a quota of men to help in the rescue work. By 8:50 o'clock 200 police had reached the scene and thrown a cordon about the entire block. Nearly 150 firemen soon arrived and were detailed to different points by Fire Chief Kenlon, who immediately took charge of operations.

The police soon discovered that every building on the west side of Seventh avenue was in danger of falling into the fifty foot excavation. Officers rushed into all the structures to warn the occupants and drive out thousands of girls in the factories in one block.

From one building alone three thousand girls rushed into the street, many abandoning their wraps and hats in their terror.

The situation met by the police and firemen was rendered more serious by the bursting of gas mains running through Seventh avenue. Within a few minutes a huge water-main broke, the water pouring down into the excavation which had swallowed street cars, auto-trucks, wagons and pedestrians.

With a roar that could be heard for more than a mile, the street from building line to building line slid into the excavation. The first theory of the police was that a blast had knocked out one or more beams that supported the shoring of the new subway. A great cloud of dust arose and settled down over the neighborhood, but the work of rescue was begun immediately.

The police announced at nine o'clock that they had taken out the bodies of six persons killed by the collapse, and that more than fifty had been taken out alive, but injured. The injured were carried by firemen into the offices of the National Cloak and Suit Company at 267-217 West 24th street.

Some of the policemen who carried out the injured were weeping. "My God!" exclaimed one, "it is terrible down there. Many of the dead are buried beneath the beams and they cannot be got out until the lumber is chopped away."

The rescuers were greatly handicapped in their work by gases and water from the broken mains. Water began to fill the excavation and three engine companies were called to pump it out to prevent the drowning of the living persons imprisoned far beneath the street level.

The department of water supply, gas and electricity was notified by Fire Chief Kenlon to shut off all mains in the neighborhood, but before this could be done there was a steady rush of water into the cavity. It was announced at 9:20 o'clock that two of the injured—a man and a woman—taken into the offices of the National Cloak and Suit Company, had died while physicians were working over them.

The third floor of the building occupied by this company was turned into a temporary hospital. Thirty physicians and surgeons took up stations there and cared for the injured as fast as they were brought up.

Notified that many persons were dying, Father McMahon, of St. Vincent de Paul's church, and Father Dooley, of St. Columba's, rushed to the scene and administered the last rites to those who were believed to be dying.

Following is a list of the known injured in the subway disaster:

Margaret Orlander, aged 19, 93 Woodhull street, Brooklyn.
Dora Kneitenberg, aged 20, 245 Second street.
David Hollander, aged 16, internal injuries.
Lena Socker, 26, broken bones.
Edna Lander, injured about arms and body.
Bertie Torretta, broken hip.

Gertrude Ressler, both legs broken.
Anna Lang, contusions.
Ida Goldberg, skull fractured.
Alice Firmin, contusions.
Joseph Steivaler, internal injuries.
Minnie Halterman, broken arm.
Bessie Cantor, broken leg.
H. Goldfield, head and body injured.

Gussie Cohen, leg broken.

Dora Goldsmith, internal injuries.

A. Rosen, leg and back broken.
Morris Friebaum, leg broken.
Dora Dorella, internal injuries.
Miss Dorothy Madeleine, a nurse employed by the National Cloak and Suit Company, was looking out of a window when the collapse occurred. "I heard a loud explosion," she said. "We have heard them for many days, but this was greater than usual, though I thought nothing of it for the instant. Then the street opened and seemed to roll away. I saw two cars plunge head first into the excavation. Then I fainted and saw nothing more."

Police Commissioner Woods directed the work of his men as soon as he could reach the scene. By that time there were 500 police on duty and as many firemen, while more than fifty ambulances were lined up to receive the injured. The police were hampered in their work by the crowd that gathered about the great cavity and calls for additional rescuers were sent in. By 10:15 o'clock more than ten thousand persons who had learned of the disaster through the newspaper extras had gathered and this number was being augmented continually.

Chairman Edward E. McCall of the public service commission hurried to the scene in a fast automobile and immediately began an investigation of the accident. Coroner Ferguson arrived shortly afterward, while the injured were still being carried from the yawning pit up long fire ladders.

Patrolman Daniel O'Shea, who was on duty at Twenty-third street and Seventh avenue, when the disaster occurred, gave this version: "It was just before 8 o'clock when I heard a loud report and the ground shook under my feet. I was regulating traffic at the time and had my eye upon a car above Twenty-third street. It was filled with men and working girls and suddenly sank from view. After turning in an alarm I ran to the scene of the disaster, but could not get into the hole till the firemen came."

Fire Commissioner Adamson reported that engineer James Jones of the United States Realty Company which is doing the construction, said the accident was caused by the loosening of underpinning in the subway when a rock freed by the blast knocked over the props.

The police announced at nine o'clock that they had taken out the bodies of six persons killed by the collapse, and that more than fifty had been taken out alive, but injured. The injured were carried by firemen into the offices of the National Cloak and Suit Company at 267-217 West 24th street.

NEW CROSS HOUSE SPLIT IN TWO BY ZEPPELIN BOMB.

FIRST PHOTO OF DESTRUCTION BY LATEST ZEPPELIN RAID ON LONDON.

This picture shows the destruction brought by one of the bombs dropped from a Zeppelin in the latest air raid on London, in which about fifty persons were killed and as many injured. The house was almost completely split in two by the explosion of the bomb. The house is located in New Cross, in south-eastern London, which suffered the most damage from the aerial raiders.

The big Zeppelin sailed over Trafalgar Square, according to the stories brought to this country by passengers on the big liners, and although attacked by anti-aircraft guns, escaped to the north.

OFFICIAL DEMAND TO BE MADE ON BRITAIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The administration has about abandoned hope of securing any redress through unofficial conferences for American importers whose goods still are held up in Holland and Scandinavian countries.

Ambassador Page has reported that apparently there has been a serious hitch in the plan to get the goods through by arrangement with the British embassy here.

As a result the ambassador is now expected to make a specific demand that the British government officially announce just what goods are entitled to pass the British blockade and the manner in which they must be shipped. By doing so he will precipitate the anticipated reiteration of the validity of the British order in council and thus facilitate the presentation of the protest against it.

The state department has turned the management of the latest complication over to Chandler Anderson, counsel to the embassy at London and now on special duty at the embassy. His knowledge of the plans of the British foreign office is expected to be invaluable under the present circumstances. Anderson also is handling the situation growing out of the forfeiture of the meat cargoes owned by the Chicago packers and he will decide whether the government shall intervene in their behalf at once or wait until they have exhausted all appeals under the English laws. Officials are inclined to favor the latter course. They believe that the British appellate courts hardly will agree to the interpretation of the law which puts the burden of proving shipments innocent on the shipper and not on the prosecution.

Information compiled by the state department showing that certain American importers' agents in London have been able to secure the release and passage to the United States of goods which the department's trade advisers were unable to get has been forwarded to London to back up the contention that favoritism has been shown in certain cases by the British officials. The department is expected to urge the British authorities to see that all classes of importers in this country are treated alike.

Second Raymond Lecture.

Thursday evening Frank Jewel Raymond, who gave such an inspiring address on "Making Good in Business," last week, under the management of the Chamber of Commerce, at the high school building, will give his second and last address on the same subject. The ability to set men thinking, really thinking, is indeed a rare gift, and one which Mr. Raymond possesses in a marked degree. His first talk not only set those thinking who heard him, but it set them talking, and acting, proving his value as a speaker. It goes without saying that the large audience of last week will be much larger tomorrow evening. Tickets for the single address will be 25 cents. Women who are engaged in the "business" of home keeping will find Mr. Raymond's address of value as well as their sisters in offices and stores.

Dewitt Palen Arraigned.

Dewitt Palen was arraigned in recorder's court on the charge of disorderly conduct. David Haller claimed that Palen had made threats against him. The defendant pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until Thursday morning.

Many go to Onondaga.

The Ulster & Delaware excursion to the Onondaga Fair took a large crowd from Rondout this morning. There were several coaches filled completely.

TEUTONS PURSUE RETREATING ARMY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Sept. 22.—Although the retreating Russian army east and southeast of Vilna is destroying railway tracks and bridges and dynamiting chasms in the highways as it falls back, the pursuit of the Teutonic forces under Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Prince Leopold and Field Marshal von Mackensen continues without any serious check.

Dispatches from the front today stated that Prince Leopold's Bavarian troops were on the point of occupying Baranovitch, an important railway junction on the line from Vilna to Rovno and on the railway from Bielestok to Minsk.

Terrific fighting is in progress around Ochmiany, 31 miles southeast of Vilna, where the Russians fell back to strong positions along the Ochmiany river. With artillery and infantry General von Eichhorn is battering at the Russian front in that sector.

"All the way from Dvinsk, where the outer fortifications of the city are in range of the German guns, to the Pripiet marshes, the German armies are joining hands in one vast plan of co-operation to surround and capture the Vilna army of the Russians."

German aircraft have violently bombed the railroad town of Sluzky to prevent the Russians in the sector of Baranovitch from using the Minsk railway for retreating purposes.

Russian prisoners say that proclamations have been issued to the Russian armies announcing the action of Czar Nicholas in placing himself at the head of the grand army of Russia. It is signed by General Alexieff, the new Russian chief of staff, and is intended to inspire the Russians to greater resistance and strengthen the shaken morale of the troops.

MAY YIELD TO BULGARIAN DEMAND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 22.—Bulgaria may yet be deterred from joining the German alliance. It was reported here this afternoon that the English foreign office had not yet abandoned its efforts and that a final demand from the Sofia government that Bulgaria be given all the territory taken from her after the Balkan wars is under consideration.

This demand is said to have been transmitted simultaneously to all the entente powers on Saturday and the next day King Ferdinand signed a mobilization decree to convince the allies that Bulgaria was not "bluffing." Bulgaria's minister to England declined to comment on the situation today, except to state that Bulgaria would maintain an "armed neutrality."

Open Door in China.

London, Sept. 22.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, announced today that it will be England's policy to maintain "an open door" in China. Fears had been expressed in some quarters that because of England's relations with Japan, she might oppose the "open door" policy for China. The "open door" means that commercial trade into China without any outside restrictions and has always been favored by the United States.

FORD WILL MAKE AEROPLANE ENGINE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, today agreed to devise a perfect engine for the use of the submarines and aeroplanes of the United States army and navy. The announcement was made following a conference between Ford and Secretary of the Navy Daniels that all of the data dealing with engine troubles in the submarines and aeroplanes of the navy which has been compiled will be turned over to Ford to work out a solution.

He will go to New York this afternoon and see Secretary of the Navy.

After conferring with Secretary Daniels, Ford will go back to Detroit and with the practical knowledge and the scientific data will try to devise an engine that will be superior to any now in existence.

The football season will open on October 2, when the Albany High School will play here. The schedule for the season is as follows:

October 2—Albany at Kingston.
October 9—Troy High School at Kingston.

ARCHIBALD CASE STILL UNDECIDED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 22.—There will be no decision by the administration regarding whether further action is to be taken on the letters taken from James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent and made public in London last night, until after Secretary of State Lansing returns to this city next week. It is considered almost certain that Capt. Von Papen, military attaché of the German embassy, will be ordered sent home by Ambassador Von Bernstorff. The ambassador already has signified his willingness to act if the department suggests such a necessity. If the United States will arrange a safe conduct for him. Although the exact language used in the letter to Mme. Von Papen has been known to President Wilson and Secretary Lansing for some time, officials were amazed at the tone now made public for the first time. His expression, "I always say to these idiotic Yankees that they had better hold their tongues" is believed by officials close to the administration to be so unpardonable that his retention here would reflect on the administration. Inasmuch as it is admitted that his usefulness is at an end it is believed that when Ambassador Von Bernstorff and Secretary Lansing meet next week the recall of the military attaché immediately will be demanded.

The confirmation in the letters of the activity of Van Papen in trying to buy up war materials and to secure control of certain munition plants is believed to show an activity that violates President Wilson's neutrality proclamation. Officials today refused to discuss the letters for the present. Acting Secretary Polk declaring that he still had to carefully examine the copies now here. He also said that some of the documents still are missing, having been shipped on a White Star liner that has not yet docked in New York.

Officials said that the letters, written by Count Von Bernstorff in Archibald's behalf and which also have been made public as well as the copy of the memorandum filed by him with Secretary Lansing, probably have no effect on the status of the German ambassador. All of these documents, it is pointed out, are of a nature that the German ambassador would be justified in signing. Whether the propriety of their being sent to Berlin by an American, protected by an American passport, will be considered has not yet been decided, and will not be until Secretary Lansing returns.

So far as the complete text of the Dumba communications are concerned, officials say that no further action can be taken. The demand for the ambassador's recall will be granted by Austria, it already is known, and there is no ground for calling Austria's attention to the complete text of the letters.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

It is believed that General Savoff will be reinstated as commander in chief of the army.

He is 65 years old, and is known as the founder of the modern Bulgarian army. General Savoff fell from grace in the second Balkan war when the Bulgars were beaten by the Serbians.

Variations of Fat in Cream and Milk.

All dairymen know that there is considerable variation in the percentage of fat in cream and skimmed milk at different times, even when the same separator is used. The general impression seems to be that the separator screw is the governing factor, and that if the adjustment of this screw is not changed the percentage of fat will be constant. But the dairy authorities at the state college of agriculture at Cornell say this is not the case. Their investigations show that the fat content of cream and skimmed milk is affected also by the temperature, by the speed at which the separator is operated, by the rate at which the milk flows into the separator bowl, by the percentage of fat in the whole milk, and very much by the amount of liquid used in flushing and by the deposit on the side of the bowl—which in time clog the passages and prevent satisfactory separation. The results of these studies are given in Bulletin 360, entitled "Variations in the Tests for Fat in Cream and Skimmed Milk," issued by the Cornell University agricultural experiment station, which may be obtained on application to the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

VILLA WITHDRAWS FROM CHIHUAHUA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 22.—Complete domination of General Francisco Villa as a distinct factor in Mexican affairs was indicated today by official advice to the state department. Villa is abandoning, seemingly without a struggle, the entire state of Chihuahua, the richest territory in his possession, to the strong Carranza army of General Obregon. Practically his entire army already has passed through Juarez en route for Sonora, where Villa's sole remaining strong point, General Maytorena, is still in control.

The El Paso representatives of the state department say they have accounted for practically all of the Villa army in thirteen trainloads of troops that have passed through Juarez. Although the department still is without official information regarding the situation south of that city it is considered certain that the Carranzas now hold Chihuahua City and the territory from there south to Mexico City and Vera Cruz.

Feelings to Be Considered.
"Do you know the Ten Commandments?" "Oh, yes," replied Miss Cayenne, "but I shouldn't venture to recite them in a general gathering of our friends. It mightn't be considered careful."

MOULTON CUP FOR BEST STUDENT

Principal Moulton has stated his intention of presenting a silver loving cup to the student who is most proficient in both athletics and studies. This cup will be awarded to the athlete attaining the greatest number of counts, a chart of which will be prepared by Mr. Moulton and Mr. Schumaker, who is the science teacher and coach of athletics at the school. Of these counts a certain number will be given for making each individual team, and a certain number for getting the highest averages in studies.

Automobile Collision.
Tuesday morning a Ford car driven by a man named Carson, who said he resided in Kingston, collided in Newburgh with a Hudson car owned by Mr. Walter Marston, who was on his way to the summer home of his employer near Esopus. The Ford car skidded on the pavement in North Grand street and sideswiped the other machine. One wheel and the side of the Ford was smashed. The other machine was unharmed.

JUDGE HASBROUCK DECIDES ON JITNEY

Judge Hasbrouck has handed down a decision in the City of Rochester case, which was argued before him at the last regular special term of the supreme court.

The action was brought by the public service commission of the Second district against Elmer G. Booth of Rochester for an injunction to restrain Booth from operating a jitney in the city of Rochester because of his failure to comply with the jitney law passed by the legislature last spring.

All jitney owners in the city of Rochester operated under licenses granted by the city. These licenses were issued on the payment of a license fee of one dollar and gave the holders right to carry on the business of public vehicle within that city until the end of the present year "subject to all ordinances of the common council now or hereafter passed relating to this subject."

The jitney law passed by the legislature provided that any person owning or operating a motor vehicle line or route or vehicles "shall be required to obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity for the operation of the route or vehicles proposed to be operated," and also made provision for furnishing a bond after certain preliminary steps had been taken.

After a recital of the Rochester ordinance and the jitney law, Judge Hasbrouck in his opinion says:

"The public service commission of the Second district has petitioned the court pursuant to section 57 of the public service commission law for an injunction restraining the defendant from operating his jitney. There is but a single question presented by the petition and the answer and that is whether the license held by the defendant is revoked and annulled by the provisions of the statute above quoted. The defendant claims that notwithstanding the additional requirements prescribed by the new law that his license remains. Whether or not it does depend upon the significance of section 93 of the general construction law of the state which provides as follows:

"The repeal of a statute or part thereof shall not affect or impair any act done, offense committed or right accruing, accrued or acquired."

"but the same may be enjoyed, asserted" "as fully and to the same extent as if such repeal had not been effected."

"There is no repeal in express terms of the provisions of the municipal charter conferring power upon the common council to enact ordinances for the regulation of the use of the streets of the city. Nor in our judgment is it repealed by implication. The city law authorizing the licensing of hackmen and section 22 of chapter 667 of the laws of 1913 are not repugnant. If this be so then there remains but the status of the license. The argument of the defendant is that section 93 of the general construction law saves from repeal such permission or privilege as that represented by the license. This must necessarily depend upon what a license is. One definition of a license is:

"A license is a right granted by some competent authority to do an act which without such authority would be illegal."

Words and Phrases, Vol. V, p. 4137.

"The language of the general construction law is used in connection with the words 'accrued or acquired.' It would cause no strain upon logic to contend that what the city authorities granted, the defendant 'acquired.' It is argued if the construction law contemplates such a right as that of this license then, of course, such right is preserved during the life of the license against the effect of the new law regulating jitney operations. The defendant claims there is authority to support his contention. One Ryan was deputy clerk of the court of special sessions of the city of New York and was chosen a member of the legislature in 1872, which office he accepted. On April 30, 1873, an act was passed which provided among other things that:

"Any person holding office whether by election or appointment who shall during his term of office hold any other civil office of the state or who shall accept a seat in the legislature shall be deemed thereby to have vacated every office held by him under the city government."

"The city refused to pay him as said clerk and he brought a mandamus against Andrew H. Green, comptroller, to compel him to pay, regarding the effect of the law Judge Folger says:

"The point made by the appellant that section 114 (hereinafter quoted) operates to vacate the office of deputy clerk held by the rotator is not tenable. The language of the section is prospective. A law may not operate upon existing rights and liabilities without it in its terms expresses such intention. Though there is no vested right to an office which may not be disturbed by legislation yet the incumbent has in a sense a right to his office. If that right is to be taken away by statute the terms should be clear in which the purpose is stated."

People ex rel Ryan v. Green, 58 N. Y. 295.

"It must be admitted that there is much force in the argument of the defendant but I do not think it is conclusive. In searching the purpose of legislators in enacting laws it is proper to look at the situation which was open to remedy. The statute speaks of 'competition with another common carrier.' The law having reference to that competition, undertook to deal with it immediately. The effect of jitney transportation upon street car lines was extremely injurious. For the street railroad company had to bear among other expenses that of special franchises tax and of maintenance of streets between tracks and for two feet outside while the jitney had the use of the streets free. These circumstances, it seems to me, are sufficient to determine what the legislature meant. It meant that this competition should be immediately checked by requiring 'any person who owns or operates a vehicle to obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity' of the public service commission and consent to operate on the streets upon such terms and conditions as the local authorities shall prescribe. It meant to protect 'other common carriers' against competition and the city against injury to its streets without the return of a proper consideration. There is no repeal of the Rochester charter in this act. There are only additional conditions prescribed for the operation of the jitney. The legislature has full power to determine the requirements of using the city streets. It was dealing with an existing condition and I think its purpose was to change that condition immediately. Should a license representing a mere legislatively conferred permission or authority be sufficient to postpone the taking effect of the statute then one who held a license for twenty years could for that length of time carry on the competition which might work to the destruction of public utilities and the great injury of the public. The license relied upon does not seem to me to be 'a right' spoken of in the General Construction Law. Sec. 92. That law merely states the established rule. The license being a child of the statute and not of the nature of a contract nor of the class known as vested rights is susceptible of revocation or annulment at any time at the will of the creating power."

"Motion for injunction granted. But time given to the defendant to apply and have action upon his application for the statutory consent not to exceed thirty days."

Frank H. Mott, counsel for the Public Service Commission, appeared on behalf of the application, which was opposed by Richard R. B. Powell of Rochester, counsel for Booth.

Tuberculosis Survey Under Way.

Miss Lydia E. Betz, R. N., who has succeeded Miss Cornell as investigating nurse to canvass the city and county for tuberculosis work and also find out somewhat of our local health conditions, although in town but a few days, has begun active work. Miss Betz did district work in Albany as the board of health nurse for three years, and had charge of the clean-up work there in the flood district. She also had charge of the typhoid epidemic work in Butler, Pa., and is experienced as a tuberculosis investigating nurse. She is now at work on the tuberculosis survey in the city, under the local board of health, and has discovered conditions in certain sections, needing remedial action, in more than one instance. A little opposition has also been met in the visiting, which is most unfortunate and shows the marked need of educational work along this line. Miss Betz is here first and always to help, never to curiously pry into other people's business, and there are two ways of receiving her. She has met with opposition in families where there are cases of tuberculosis, or where there have been cases, and her proffered help either most grudgingly received and half heeded with the certain result that any such patient will grow worse instead of better. Or she may be given a cordial welcome as one who brings help and health; her instructions followed minutely and her suggestions carefully carried out, with the probable result of a cure.

In many cases, and with all chances of inverting the other members of the family removed, Miss Betz is especially well qualified for this work, for she speaks German and understands Italian. Let us all remember, that Miss Betz is our friend here in Kingston and do all in our power to aid her in her work. Her office is in the Ulster County Building, corner of Crown and John streets.

COTTRELL.

Cottrell, Sept. 22.—The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. John Short Tuesday afternoon and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Ira Snyder; vice president, Mrs. Mahlon Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. A. Snyder; recording secretary, Mrs. R. B. Walker; treasurer, Mrs. Jacob Barley. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pine have returned home after spending some time at Saratoga, Cairo and Catskill.

The hotel in this village has been sold to New York parties. We wonder why the change has been made. Was it for lack of business? Is it the good work the W. C. T. U. is doing or have the men all signed the pledge?

Jacob Barley and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Winchell in Kingston.

Miss Anna Short, one of our most estimable young ladies, and a New Paltz Normal graduate, has accepted a school at Port Jervis.

Mr. Book is having his house painted. Sherman Brothers of Rosendale are doing the work.

Styles Brothers are building a silo.

Thomas Snyder is about selling his farm here.

A. J. Keator of Kingston passed through this village Monday on his Indian motorcycle.

Mrs. James Snyder and grandson, Douglas Snyder, visited friends in Kingston on Sunday.

Rev. Wilmer McNair preached his farewell sermon here Sunday evening, taking for his text Matt. 22-42. Mr. McNair has been here eleven years. He leaves October 1 for Hoindel, N. J., where he has a charge.

The change of the time table on the O. & W. railroad took effect Sunday, Sept. 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keator spent several days in Kingston the past week.

Henry Keator has purchased a very pretty gray horse of Luther Devo of Rosendale.

Keno Lodge still has a few boarders.

Harry Van Wagoner of Walden is spending some time here with his parents.

Walker Eltinge has sold his ice to Philip Driscoll of Rosendale.

The consistory of the Reformed church are talking of buying a new organ and making some other necessary improvements to the interior.

UNHAPPY HAPPYS AGAIN ARE HAPPY

The Happys of Wittenberg were made happier on Tuesday when the jury in the action brought by them against John Kelder of Samsonville brought in a verdict late that afternoon awarding the Happys the sum of $47.25. The Happys were suing Kelder because they claimed he had sold them a pair of balky oxen. The Happys are in the lumber business at Woodstock under the firm name of Frederick Happy & Sons. The sons are Frank and Emory Happy. They paid Kelder $200 for the oxen which they claimed balked and finally unable to use them sold them to Jacob Forst of this city who killed the oxen at his slaughter house and used the carcasses for beef. The Happys sued to recover $80 difference in the price they paid Kelder and the price Forst paid them. William D. Brinnier represented the Happys and Frank W. Brooks appeared for Kelder. The case was the first to be tried at this term of county court before Judge Jenkins.

Wants $2,000 From City.

At the close of the Happy-Kelder case the action brought by Thomas Lavelle of Hunter street against the city of Kingston to recover $2,000 for damages which he claimed he received last November when hit by the limb of a tree on McEntee street, was called. William D. Brinnier who appears for the city said that he was unable to proceed to trial that afternoon. After some discussion between Judge N. Frank O'Reilly who represents Lavelle and Mr. Brinnier and the court it was decided to take the testimony of Dr. Jacob J. Simonds who attended Lavelle as the physician had an important engagement in New York city today and would not be able to attend court.

It was agreed by the attorneys that the physician's testimony was to be read to the jury when the case was taken up for trial.

The city has entered a general denial to the claims of Lavelle and set up as a defense that there was a terrific storm at the time Lavelle was hit by the limb of a tree.

It was announced on Tuesday that the case would be taken up when court reconvened on Wednesday morning.

Wants Judgment Set Aside on Technicality.

Oral arguments were heard by Judge Jenkins in the action of David Samuels, respondent, against Joseph Zanelli, appellant. This is an appeal from a judgment of Justice of the Peace James E. Kennedy of the town of Ulster for $40.08 for goods sold and delivered. Samuels who is a resident of Kingston was represented by Henry Klein while William D. Brinnier, Jr., represented Zanelli who is a resident of Fleischmanns. Mr. Brinnier raised the question of jurisdiction of Judge Kennedy. He said that Zanelli was a resident of Fleischmanns, that the summons was served on Zanelli in the town of Shandaken and that the case was tried in the town of Ulster, and he argued that Judge Kennedy had no jurisdiction in the matter.

After hearing arguments on both sides Judge Jenkins reserved decision. Court then took a recess until this morning.

Prepare for Winter!

With another long Winter coming on, your topmost thought should be to protect the family health by right heating—to give wife and growing daughter the cosy, genial home atmosphere for the social standing and success to which they are entitled. Why not insure yourself forever care-free by guarding your home against discomforts and health-dangers of old-fashioned heating by putting in at once an outfit of

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

No matter how fiercely bleak Winter rages at the walls or howls at the windows, the faster will be the natural flow of warmth to the AMERICAN Radiators stationed there to offset the cold. That's the beauty of our way of heating. You need have no fear of comfort, health-protection and safety of the folks at home where this heating outfit is on guard. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators add to the joy of living because they banish the work and wear by keeping coal-dirt, ashes and soot out of the living rooms, and they reduce the cost of living in their great savings in fuel, lessened doctor bills and absence of repairs.

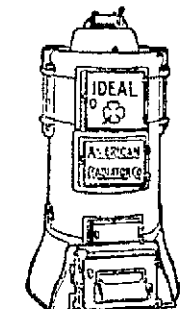

The practical values and every-day economies and conveniences of these heating outfits have been demonstrated in thousands and thousands of notable buildings, homes, stores, schools, churches, hospitals, theatres, etc., etc., in nearly every civilized country, and endorsed by leading health officials, engineers, and architects.

A No. 175 IDEAL Boiler and 215 sq. ft. of 36-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $120, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climate and other conditions.

That is why IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are so fully guaranteed. Yet they cost no more than ordinary types made without scientific tests of construction and capacity. Accept no substitute.

If you want to make your home a haven of comfort, don't wait until you build but comfort your present house—on farm or in city—with an outfit of IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators. Put outfit in now at present attractive prices and when you can get the services of the most skilled fitters. Don't continue to pay the cost of doing without, but ask to-day for free booklet, "Ideal Heating," which proves to you why the outfit is an investment—soon pays for itself, then returns annual dividends in fuel and other savings. Call, phone or write to-day.

The fire in an IDEAL Boiler is automatically controlled; no "fussing" with dampers. One charging with coal easily lasts through the longest zero night. There can be no fuel waste.

When a run-down salesman calls on you, do you buy his goods? Aren't you afraid of his line because he looks as if no one ever gave him an order?

Same thing is true of a seedy town. To be prosperous it must look prosperous and show local pride.

"I am feeding my children with Imperial Granum, and it has proved to be the best food for children in the world. I have five children. The youngest is seven weeks, and the oldest is eight years. I have always had trouble with their stomachs, especially with my boy, two years old, but since I began to feed them with Imperial Granum, they are all in the best of health. Their stomachs are in perfect condition, and during the time I have used Imperial Granum I have had no trouble. I am very happy I had such an opportunity to cure my babies without medicine."

In ascertaining the power of said such cities to issue bonds, the total debt shall be added to the debt already provided that a sinking fund for its amortization shall have been established and maintained and that the indebtedness shall not be so excluded during any period of time when the revenue aforesaid shall not be sufficient to pay the interest on said debt and amortization installments; and except further that any indebtedness heretofore incurred by the city of New York for any rapid transit or dock investment may be so excluded proportionately to the extent to which the revenue of such investment is by said such city therefrom shall meet the interest and amortization installments thereof, provided that any increase in the

The legislature may in its discretion confer appropriate jurisdiction on the appellate division of the supreme court in the first instance for determining the amount of any debt to be so excluded. FRESH AT NIGHT
If One Uses the Right Kind of Food.

If by proper selection of food one can feel strong and fresh at the end of a day's work, it is worth while to know the kind of food that will produce this result.

A school teacher out in Kansas says in this connection:

"At the time I commenced the use of Grape-Nuts my health was so poor that I thought I would have to give up my work altogether. I was rapidly losing in weight, had little appetite, was nervous and sleepless, and experienced, almost constantly, a feeling of exhaustion.

"I tried various remedies without good results; then I determined to give particular attention to my food, and have learned something of the properties of Grape-Nuts for rebuilding body, brain and nerves.

"Since using Grape-Nuts I have made a constant and rapid improvement in health, in spite of the fact that all this time I have been engaged in strenuous and exacting work.

"I have gained twelve pounds in weight and have a good appetite, my nerves are steady and I sleep sound. I have such strength and reserve force that I feel almost as strong and fresh at the close of a day's work as at the beginning.

"Before using Grape-Nuts I was troubled much with weak eyes but as my vitality increased the eyes became stronger.

"I never heard of another food as nutritious and economical as Grape-Nuts."

"There's a Reason."

By Your Lathe

You need skill of hand, a keen eye and steady nerves, and when you get a crackerjack chew or smoke you know how it helps all three. Nothing like tucking good old LIBERTY into your pipe, or taking a man's size chew, to hold you steady and put gimp into the job.

LIBERTY

is a substantial, satisfying, healthful tobacco—made for real men who like the honest taste of real tobacco.

Manly men cannot get satisfaction out of insipid mixtures, any more than they can make a meal off of marshmallows. You go to LIBERTY to satisfy your tobacco hunger, just as you go to a beefsteak to satisfy stomach hunger.

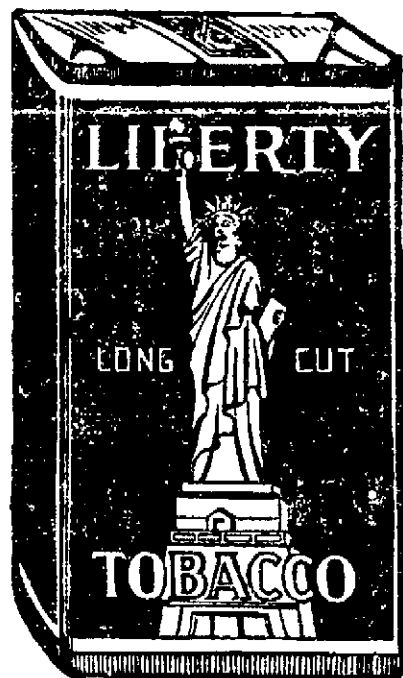

We make LIBERTY out of pure Kentucky leaf. We age it three to five years—so as to make it rich, ripe and mellow—naturally sweet, juicy and pleasing. It's got the snap and taste to it.

It's the big, two-fisted kind of men, the country's "finest" who use LIBERTY because it is the one tobacco that always satisfies them.

You try LIBERTY for a week, and you'll always keep it on the job.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Sept. 21.—Alfred Lane of Willow met with a serious accident on Saturday. He was driving from his home to Bearsville, and while opposite Joseph Gridley's in Shady, something frightened his horse, who shied, throwing Mr. Lane over. He struck on his head. Neighbors ran to his assistance and found him badly injured. The doctor was summoned, who found that he had sustained a severe injury to his spinal cord, he being paralyzed from his neck down. The doctor said two things might have happened, either a hemorrhage in spinal canal, thus pressing on the cord, arresting its function, or else one of the vertebrae might have been fractured and a fragment pressing on the cord. If it was a hemorrhage it will probably clear up in a few days, but if a fracture an operation would be necessary to remove the fragment.

The Woodstock Club held its annual meeting on Friday night. The treasurer reported $196 balance on hand. A board of directors was elected for the ensuing year: Mortimer B. Downer, chairman; Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead, Louise Linden, George H. Elwyn, Bertha Poole Werl, the Rev. Harry Brink, Edward Simmons, Marion Earnes and Henry Peper. Figures were submitted, showing the cost of installing an engine and dynamo to operate a moving picture machine would be about $500. This machine would give a 3,200 candle power light, and would be guaranteed satisfactory in every way. Two hundred dollars has been pledged for this, and steps have been taken to raise the balance. At a meeting of the board of directors Monday night Marion Elwyn was elected secretary, and committees were appointed to carry on the work for the coming year. Twenty-five dollars was voted for new books and arrangements were made for a supper to be held some time in October, to raise funds for the club.

Brinnier appeared for the city and Judge N. Frank O'Reilly is representing Mr. Lavelle.

Mr. Lavelle has been a resident of Kingston for the past sixty years and is 77 years of age. He has been a laborer all his life and worked on the coal docks in Rondout between 40 and 50 years and then went with the Kingston Gas & Electric Company where he was employed digging ditches and laying gas pipes. At the time of the accident Mr. Lavelle was working for Henry McNamee who had the contract to grade the high school grounds. He was receiving $1.40 a day and had just been working eight days when injured. He had cut work about 4:30 o'clock that afternoon and was on his way home when struck.

In describing the accident, Mr. Lavelle said "I was going along and the first thing I knew the limb came down and threw me over on Canfield's stoop." He said that while he lay on the ground Mrs. Canfield and the Rev. Solomon Cole, came out and helped him up and that James Wood of No. 129 Hunter street who was also on his way home stopped and helped him to his home where he was attended by Dr. Jacob J. Simonds. Mr. Lavelle said he was confined to his bed for over two weeks and it was not until March of this year that he was able to leave the house.

Mr. Lavelle said he can work all right yet but he could not stoop as it pained him. "No healthier man living than me before I was hurt I don't think," said he and he continued that he had never yet needed the services of a doctor until he was hurt by the falling limb.

James Wood, who assisted Mr. Lavelle home after the accident told of his part of the affair. At the opening of the case Mr. Brinnier moved that the action be dismissed on the grounds that the city was not liable and that the action was brought against the wrong party and should have been brought against Palmer Canfield instead of the city. The motion, however, was denied by Judge Jenkins.

During this morning's session the proceedings were continued by a number of this between Mr. Brinnier and Mr. O'Reilly. During the cross examination of Mr. Lavelle the corporation counsel endeavored to bring out that it was only through political influence that Mr. Lavelle has been able to get work owing to his advanced age as in reply to questions Mr. Lavelle had stated that he had also worked for the water department under Superintendent Harrison. This led Judge O'Reilly to remark that it was only through pliancy that Mr. Brinnier held his present position and Mr. Brinnier retorted that it was through politics that Judge O'Reilly had lost his.

Further pleasant exchanges between counsel were brought to a stop by Judge Jenkins, who stated with a smile that politics was not an issue in the case.

Twin Beds at Carl's.

The Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company has an attractive window exhibit of furniture to represent a scene from "Twin Beds," the comedy which appears at the Kingston Opera House on Thursday night. Last year the Carl Company had a similar display when "Twin Beds" was produced here, but this year's window exhibit is far more attractive than the one then given. Of course, twin beds form one of the features of the exhibit, which like the comedy for which it is given attracts much attention.

Cornell Estate Accounting.

Judge Jenkins as acting surrogate today approved the accounts of Horace G. Young, as sole trustee under the last will and testament of Thomas Cornell, deceased, and granted a decree directing the distribution of that portion of the income of the estate payable to the life tenant beneficiaries. Surrogate Gill being disqualified to act because of relationship to some of the parties interested. Judge Clearwater appeared as counsel for Mr. Young.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 22.—The speculative interest was mostly in the so-called war stocks and specialties in the early trading, with several of those issues advancing to new high records and many of them making violent advances followed by sharp reactions. General Motors opened up 22 points at 345, followed by a reaction on the next sale to 339. Bethlehem Steel at the opening yielded 19½ points to 335 and Colorado Fuel opened with a loss of 7½ at 51½. There was an urgent demand for Westinghouse with first sales recorded at 4,000 shares from 123 to 124, against 122½ at the close yesterday. After selling at 124½ the stock quickly dropped to 123. New York Airbrake rose 1½ to 164½, and Studebaker advanced 5 points to 145, a new high record, followed by a reaction to 143. Maxwell second preferred sold at 46 to 47 against 43½ at the close yesterday, and then jumped to 49 on one transaction of 100 shares followed by a reaction to 47½, then rallying to 49. Industrial Alcohol opened 1½ lower at 83, later recovering this loss. American Foundry rose 1½ to 75½ and American Locomotive rose to 59½. Changes in the standard issues were small. Steel common rose ¼ to 76½, and Union Pacific ¼ at 130½.

A number of standard issues became present in the late forenoon, with most interest attached to the trading in steel common, which rose to 77, a gain of one point. American Smelting rose to 85½, a net gain of 1½. Erie common advanced ½ to 31½, and the preferred sold at 51½, a point rise. American Can sold up to 62½, against 60½ at the close yesterday. Baldwin Locomotive gained 1½. California Petroleum rose to 21½, and Mexican Petroleum rose to 90½, against 87 at the close yesterday. Texas Company, which closed yesterday at 153½, rose to 157½, a gain of four points. Money lining at 1½ per cent.

Steel Common was one of the most prominent features in the late afternoon, selling at 77½, the highest price since 1912. Many of the minor steel industrials including Pressed Steel Car, Colorado Fuel and Great Northern Ore were also in good demand at substantial advances. Crucible Steel sold around 96, about a point above yesterday's close. There was also a good demand for some of the specialties.

The market closed strong; government bonds unchanged; other bonds steady.

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 22.—Ambassador Dumba has been recalled. He received a telegram from Emperor Francis Joseph granting him "leave of absence."

FEAST OF TABERNACLES.

Jewish Festival Which Begins Today and Ends October 1.

The festival comprises eight days, beginning on the eve of the 22nd day of September and ending October 1st.

Once a year Israel relives its love of the soil, and makes public avowal of the fact that even an industrial civilization, such as ours, depends primarily upon the elements of nature. This re-statement of love for and confidence in mother earth is indeed a fact of Jewish religiousness. We know and we reassure ourselves that God is at the centre of life through all the seasons and that the prosperity and the satisfaction we seek come or do not come according to His law.

Judaism is a religion in the very midst of the passions, aspirations and complications of life. Nowhere are these more insistent than in the economic interests of men. Here religion has a duty as well as an opportunity. Judaism endeavors not merely to fortify men in their difficulties as to the daily bread, but also to keep them moral large-hearted and just.

The Sukkoth Festival is meant not as a season of self-congratulation on having garnered in the product of the farm or the gains of business, but as time for thought on the larger-scope social interests of men in the national and international life. The Jews are the first to have recognized political economy as the field where religion and morality must operate for the good of men.

In its modern form the suggestiveness of this truth of the Sukkoth Festival is made more effective by the fact that it occurs at the beginning of the autumn, coincident with the increased activities of the economic agencies. It is, as it were, a timely lesson for each one to interpret his life as of larger scope, related to the national life and made possible in fullness only within it.

The "dwelling in booths" as characteristic of the Biblical phase of the festival and observed as an archaism nowadays, is a suggestive domestic ritual which reaffirms the lessons of "the simple life" and the democracy of the Jewish household. The four symbolic plants, bundled together, hint that, as the gifts of God in nature vary and in their totality make human life sweet and satisfactory, so the difference among men, as to service and character, may serve to make "society" an organization in which each one of us has a place and can make a helpful contribution.

Some more effective, some less; some noble, and some commonplace; some for the day and some for all time, according to what they do and what they are.

The Sukkoth Festival is the culminating lesson of the series of holidays of the month. It addresses itself to the facts of life which we might, otherwise, leave sordid. It widens the horizon of our individual interests. It approves our vocations and labors not when they bring private satisfactions but when they vitalize our common humanity and make us more efficient in the work upon which depend the well, the peace and the joy of the community.

On the pupit at Temple Emanuel, there has been erected a beautiful booth or succah of various kinds of leaves and decorated with fruits, vegetables and flowers. The ornamentation completely covers the wooden framework of the structure. The services at Temple Emanuel will take place at 7:30 this evening and 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The public is cordially invited.

WAR LOAN MEETS MORE OBSTACLES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 22.—Although no information has come from an "authoritative source" that the negotiations of the Anglo-French commission for a billion dollar loan in this country has proceeded so favorably that a definite plan may be announced by the end of the week, the opinion was expressed in Wall street circles today that the financial condition of the British government, as revealed in the budget speech of Reginald McKenna, British chancellor of the exchequer, in parliament yesterday, probably will have a strong unfavorable effect in some quarters that were formerly well disposed toward the loan.

According to the figures given out in parliament the British government is now face to face with a deficit of $6,590,000,000 and is threatened with a dead weight debt of $11,000,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year.

In spite of the news from London relative to the unprecedented financial burden of the British government, this statement comes from a source close to J. P. Morgan and Company.

"The Anglo-French commission will not return empty-handed."

Whether or not any of the enterprises controlled by the Rockefeller group participate in the proposed loan, it is safe to say that members of the group will aid it individually. William Rockefeller is reported to be favorably disposed toward the loan.

The help of Henry Clay Frick, the coal and coke king, and George F. Baker, a member of the Morgan group, has been personally enlisted by J. Pierpont Morgan.

It is also believed that members of the international banking house of Kuhn, Loeb and Company may participate in the loan as individuals, notwithstanding Tuesday's report that the company, possibly because of its German connections, will not take any of the loan as an investment for the firm's treasury.

It is learned that J. and W. Seligman and Company has notified J. P. Morgan and Company of its willingness to take over part of the loan.

When the conferences were resumed today statements from various sources all strengthened the belief that the total amount of the loan will be $800,000,000. After an amount sufficient to stabilize the exchange rates is deducted, the balance will be used to establish credit here for the British and French governments.

Some banking interests in the interior, while allured by the proposed rate of interest which the Anglo-French governments are ready to allow upon the loan have expressed a backwardness about subscribing because they fear the bonds or notes will not be sufficient, but on this point all will have the assurance of J. P. Morgan and Company, it is said, that there will be no possibility of default.

THE BEST TIME

September, the Fall housecleaning month, is, indeed, the very best time to get at the attic and clean it out of all that pile of discarded household goods, but when you get at it, don't be wasteful.

Remember that just because you are through with an article is no reason that someone else will not find use for it. Make a list, therefore, of all the usable household articles that are littering up your attic and write them into a Want Ad and see how quickly you will be able to sell them and net yourself a nice roll of bills that will more than cover the expenses of your moving.

BRYAN CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 22.—For the first time since he relinquished his post as premier of the cabinet, William Jennings Bryan visited the White House today. He was closeted with President Wilson for nearly an hour and officials generally regarded the meeting as one of the most important since the president assumed office because of the effect that it may have on his political fortunes. Bryan insisted, however, that there was no significance in his call but that he had simply paid his respects prior to leaving for Florida tonight.

Secretary Tumulty took the same view, although he took pains to emphasize the friendly relations he declared exists between the two.

Despite the official attitude it was generally accepted that the real object of Bryan's call was to find out just what the president had in mind to recommend to congress on the subject of war preparedness legislation. On his return to this city from the west, Bryan, in a lengthy statement, declared that the people of the country, especially the farmers, would not stand for lavish expenditures for the army and navy. He then made it plain that he would accept the leadership of a fight to mount any such program, but made it very plain that he did not believe that President Wilson would stand for any plan that provided for an addition of many millions to the country's expense.

Bryan was believed to have told the president that while he was very anxious to stand by the administration in its legislative program, he would be compelled through conscience's reasons to fight any big army and navy plan though the president should believe that it was necessary. It was also understood that the president made it plain on his part that while he believes that the country should prepare for defense, he had no intention of advocating the expenditure of nearly half a billion dollars for that purpose.

Bryan positively refused to discuss his visit on leaving the White House.

"I cannot discuss a conference with the president," he said. "Anyhow, I was there to pay my respects, and I had a pleasant visit."

Bryan said that he would leave tonight for Florida and expected to make a number of speeches en route. He reiterated his views of preparedness, declaring that if the big army and navy people had their way they would soon involve this country in the European war.

Bryan refused to say whether he had talked with the president about the European trip proposed to him by the foreign language publishers of the United States. He said that the situation, so far as that trip was concerned, has not changed since he told the editors on Monday that he would take their suggestion under advisement. He said he would not reach any decision before October 10, when he expects to return to this city.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York Sept. 22.—It looks as if old King Solomon will have to jump out of his sepulchre and give us a ruling on the most perplexing problem of pugilism, to wit: Who is bantam champion of the world?

Ever since that Kid Williams-Johnny Ertle bout in St. Paul on Sept. 10th there's been all sorts of debating over the peculiar question which that bout brought up.

Williams, who won the title from Johnny Coulton, was disqualified in the 5th round of the Ertle bout for fouling. The fight was stopped and Referee Barton awarded the fight to Ertle.

The boxing laws of Minnesota specifically bar the rendering of decisions and Barton apparently had no right to render a decision. However, since the bout the Boxing Commission has backed up Barton, in this way seemingly overruling itself.

Ertle, of course, asserts he is the now champion—and seems entitled to the title. But Williams, claiming the protection of the state laws—and being justified in doing so—declares he did not lose the fight because no rulings—except in cases of knockouts—are permissible—and that Barton was assuming authority he did not have in awarding the fight to Ertle.

A fine mixup eh Watson? How Connie Mack foiled Cap Anson. Once upon a time—in the days of long ago—Cap Anson hammered a ball over the fence but refused to advance farther than third base, although he was entitled to a home run and his team was three runs behind at the time. Why?

Well, in those days the catcher played back until there was a man on base. Connie Mack happened to be the catcher that day and Whitney was the pitcher for the club opposing the Chicagoans. Anson figured that if he lingered on third, Mack would have to move up back of the batter and Whitney would be forced to pitch slower. Anson knew that one run would be useless to his side and he thought that slower pitching might enable his men to stage a batting rally.

However, Connie foiled the shrewd Anson by taking a long chance in refusing to move up until after Pfeffer had been thrown out at first. Then he took up his station back of the batter and Ed Williamson tanned leaving Anson stranded on third despite the fact that he had made a home run drive.

Does This One Get a Prize? Peculiar plays in baseball. Well, how about this one in which a first baseman executed a double play at second base.

The Giants and Reds were staging a combat. Lobert the first man up in the inning under discussion doubled. Brainerd followed and sent a bounder to the Red pitcher. The pitcher turned to throw to third and then, on that Lobert, he was ed around and was well on his way back to second. So the pitcher heaved the ball at Mollwitz, the Reds first baseman.

However, Brainerd had rounded first and was half way to second by that time. Mollwitz was going to throw to second in an attempt to catch Brainerd, when he saw Lobert also dashing for the same bag. Mollwitz sensing a mixup held the ball running with it toward second. Lobert slid back into the second sack just at the same moment that Brainerd slid into it. There was a collision—and both men rolled away from the bag. Lobert being whirled into the grass, back of second.

By this time Mollwitz had arrived on the scene, walked over to where Lobert and Brainerd were sprawled and tagged out both.
